About FACE

CLOSING

Dr. Archibong's favorite Nigerian proverb.

"Hold a true friend with both your hands!"

DEDICATED FACE

Dr. Victor Archibong

When the Echo Staff had to make the decision on who to dedicate the yearbook to, no one could vote against Dr. Victor Archibong. The 1998-1999 Echo, Face To Face, is dedicated to Dr. Archibong, better known as Mr. Popularity to GC students.

Dr. Archibong became a member of the Greensboro College family in 1987. He received his bachelor's, master's, and doctrate from the University of Kansas. From 1987 until 1995, Dr. Archibong taught political science at GC by himself. He has received many awards for teaching, the most recent being his 1998 induction into the Omicion Delta Kappa Society. Others include: 1997-1998 Moore Professorship; 1994 General Board of Higher Education and Ministry of the United Methodist Church for exemplary teaching at a United Methodist related institution of higher education; 1992 World Community Service Award for work with Mexico; 1990 Outstanding Teaching Award; amd 1989-1990 SGA Faculty-Staff Teaching Award. However, he is most proud of separating the political science and history majors from each other. Dr. Archibong is a firm believer of "every job is a self-portrait of the person who did it. Autograph your work with excellence."

Dr. Archibong believes that the greatest asset of Greensboro College is: "The people that work here make a tremendous difference, and the positive changes that continue to happen." Many will agree that Dr. Archibong is part of the reason for the positive changes. When he is faced with a problem he always carries the "DON'T WORRY BE HAPPY" attitude. Dr. Victor Archibong, we salute you.

COLOPHON

The 1998-1999 Echo was edited by Ailene Griffith. The cover is Vista Executive material in Slate Gray with applied silkscreen Kelly Green. Endsheets are vibracolor mist. 136 pages are printed on 80 pound gloss enamel paper stock and are Smyth Sewn bound rounded and backed. Two flats are printed in clean color and one flat is printed using spot color Forest. All pages were design by the Echo staff using PageMaker 6.5. 500 copies of the 8½ x 11 yearbook were printed by Herff Jones in Charlotte, NC.
